Building Professionals: As Ready As Your Organization

We understand that succeeding in today's dynamic and uncertain environment demands special skills. On manager's part, it requires ability to read weak signals from external environment: be it a competitive threat or a new opportunity, ability to plan a strategic response leveraging her multifunctional skills and ability to inspire teams and implement change. PGPEX program structure is geared towards building such capabilities in its students.

Heartening industry response and challenging assignments taken by PGPEX alumni testify the efficacy of the program towards building such capabilities.
